NASHVILLE PUBLIC LIBRARY FOUNDATION'S NEXT CHAPTER SOCIETY

STRING CITY

NASHVILLE'S Tradition of Music & Puppetry

FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 2024
6:30 P.M. PRE-SHOW SHINDIG | 8:00 P.M. SHOW
About the Show

String City: Nashville’s Tradition of Music and Puppetry is a lively telling of the history of country music, with a Nashville emphasis. String City creates a fascinating and entertaining “circle” through the history of country music. Marionettes, rod puppetry, shadow/animation puppetry, and more portray country music’s legacy through songs and puppet appearances from the Carter Family, Hank Williams, Dolly Parton, George Strait, Alan Jackson, Taylor Swift, Alison Krauss, and many others. String City: Nashville’s Tradition of Music and Puppetry is co-production of the Nashville Public Library and the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum. Created and presented by the Library’s Wishing Chair Productions in collaboration with the Museum, String City was made possible in part by a special gift from Judy and Steve Turner.

About the Event

This lively event will kick off with a pre-show shindig offering live music, food, and an open bar with specialty cocktails, beer, and wine. A private performance of the show will follow in the Library’s intimate theater, and the evening will wrap up with music from a few of Nashville’s favorite artists. You do not want to miss this uniquely Nashville event!

About the Nashville Public Library Foundation

Founded in 1997, the Nashville Public Library Foundation is focused on supporting and fundraising for Nashville Public Library. The Foundation's Next Chapter Society is a group of civic-minded, emerging leaders who play a key role in raising awareness about and funds for the Library.

Available to every member of the Davidson County area, the Library is an essential fiber in our community’s fabric. The Library has built trust in the community for decades, created an extensive collection of resources for every age and demographic, and routinely delivers award-winning programming on a massive scale free of charge. But none of this would be possible without the Nashville Public Library Foundation, as our city funding dollars can only go so far. By raising private funds from generous supporters like yourself, the Nashville Public Library Foundation expands what’s possible for the Library and thus for our community.
Tyson Moore, local business executive with Bank of America and Foundation board member had this to say about the event. "String City is a fabulous private event and unique experience that brings together our world-renowned puppetry assets, music and story-telling to share the history of country music. There is no other event like this across the country and having it all here in Nashville is a real treasure. " Do not miss your opportunity to be a part of String City!
